DIARY NOTES

LKW

23 June 1965

I had a long talk with Walt Elder and Hank Knoche, who appeared to be getting a little nervous, about how we will operate when I become Executive Director-Comptroller. I asked them both to remain for the time being and said that I felt the key to our success would be full exchange of information, cooperation with each other, etc. I think the waters are calm for the present.
